PRP for facial aesthetics, is a revolutionary, collagen producing treatment offering natural skin rejuvenation for long-term beneficial results. Treatments reverse the common aging signs in the skin by using the patient's own platelets, making the treatment hypoallergenic. It is a natural way of rejuvenating the skin, going hand-in-hand with injectables to help with texture, tone, aging, acne and sunspots.

In the C3 course, you will also learn how to utilize micro-needling for PRP treatments. Micro-needling can be used to treat acne and surgical scars, including keloids - as well as wrinkles, stretch marks, pore size and other signs of aging.
